Nestle Purina will begin enforcing a new head protection requirement effective 2/1/2016. Any time your driver is outside of their vehicle on company property the driver will need to wear head protection. Some of you may have already received this communication from our corporate office or from our Bloomfield Materials Department for inbound shipments.

There is also an additional requirement that all drivers have a piece of high visible clothing from the waist up which can be shirt, jacket, vest, or hat that has been in effect for a year or more now. All of your drivers should be aware of this requirement. However, if the hard hat or bump cap is a high visible color then this will fulfill both requirements.

If drivers show without the proper Personal Protective Equipment (PPE), we will have spare hats and vests available in our guard house for the drivers to check out. Drivers who do not follow or refuse to follow the guidelines will be asked not to return to the plant.
